Press Release

13 April 2022

AMA Group appoints Craig Hogan Executive General Manager – Non-Drive, Farewells Campbell Jones

AMA Group has appointed Craig Hogan as the new Executive General Manager – Non-Drive for AMA Group, following Campbell Jones' resignation from the role.

Craig joins AMA Group most recently from Illinois Tool Works, where he was the Group President – Construction Asia Pacific where he led the segment through a major transformation and delivered seven years of sustained revenue and profit growth.

Supported by his background in consulting, Craig has a strong track record of strategic planning and execution in industrial and manufacturing businesses including United Technologies' Carrier HVAC business and HJ Heinz Europe.

Craig Hogan

Campbell will support Craig in the transition before leaving the business at the end of April. Campbell joined ACM Parts in 2018 as Chief Operating Officer before being promoted to CEO ACM Parts. He became part of the AMA Group when ACM Parts was acquired in 2019, before being promoted to CEO of AMA Group's Auto Parts and Accessory Solutions division. In July 2021, Campbell took on the role of EGM Non-Drive.

AMA Group thanks Campbell for his contributions and welcomes Craig to the Group.
